I. ASSUMPTION OF RISK

1. I, the Participant, am aware that tour kayaking, canoeing, wilderness survival, wilderness skills and other outdoor adventures involve many inherent risks, dangers and hazards, including but not limited to:

- Terrain: Any manner of injury resulting from falls on steep, slippery or uneven terrain, especially in the inter-tidal zones while entering or exiting the shore;
- Hazards of Water Travel: There is the possibility of sudden immersion in water as a result of winds, waves, swells, surf landings, tidal currents, contact with rocks, logs, or other debris;
- Equipment: Any manner of injury resulting from use, misuse, non-use and failure of any equipment, and the risk of becoming trapped or pinned in a boat or entangled in ropes or lashings;
- Transportation Risks: Risk of accidents involving boats, planes, ferries, and other vehicles;
- Weather: Any injury or illness, including hypothermia, resulting from exposure to cold, hot or wet weather, the effects of heat and strong sunlight, winds including gails, hurricanes, and tornadoes;
- Remoteness: The possibility of becoming lost or the inability to access help, including medical help, in an emergency;
- Animals: Including bears, vicious domestic or wild dogs, eagles and other birds, insects, spiders, ticks, parasites or other curious or aggressive animals or insects;
- Land Claimants and Owners: Aggressive and intimidating acts of surrounding landowners or those who claim an interest in the surrounding lands or waters;
- Other Hazards: Vandalism, theft of property, forest fires, rock falls, flood, deadfall, avalanche, and mud slide.
